Facebook Reverses Cryptocurrency Ad Ban Amidst Rumors of a Coinbase Acquisition

Facebook has reversed its blanket ban on cryptocurrency ads and will now allow pre-approved crypto businesses to advertise. However, ICOs and binary options will still be prohibited from the platform.

Highlights from the article:

- “Facebook has reversed its blanket ban on cryptocurrency ads and will now allow pre-approved crypto businesses to advertise. However, ICOs and binary options will still be prohibited from the platform.”
- “In a published blog post, Facebook Product Management Director Rob Leathern said the company has refined the policy and will now ‘allow ads that promote cryptocurrency and related content from pre-approved advertisers.’”
- “Facebook’s January ban on cryptocurrency ads stemmed from ICO scams and the lack of regulation in the space at the time. The company was heavily criticized for the broadness of its ban which it justified by saying it was ‘intentionally broad while we work to better detect deceptive and misleading advertising practices.’”
